READ

John 6.51-58

Jesus tells the Jews that he is the living bread come down from heaven. The Jews question him, asking ‘How can this man give his flesh to eat?’ Jesus explains that unless they eat of the body of the Son of Man or drink his blood, they will not have life. That those who eat his flesh and blood will have eternal life, that he will abide in them and they in him. That he was sent by the Father and lives because of him. This is not like the bread that fed the ancestors, those who eat of this bread will live for ever.

A note on the passage How confusing this must have seemed to those who heard and questioned Jesus’ words; they couldn’t understand the strange things he was saying about his body and blood. Jesus tells them this is not like the bread of the ancestors; his flesh and blood will give eternal life. If we eat and drink of him, he will abide in us and us in him. This is about drawing life from the life of Jesus, belief in him is the way to a full and happy life. How does this life-giving message speak into your life today?

Jesus tells those around him that his body and blood will give eternal life – what a gift! How can we give in a meaningful way to others? Unfortunately, many in the world today are physically starving. Think about giving the gift of food by donating to a local Food Bank.

BREAK BREAD

Incorporate bread into one meal you have each day for a week, and as you eat it think about Jesus' words, 'the one who eats this bread will live for ever'.
