Genesis 9:8–17 *Fresh starts and God's good news of a covenant.

After the flood, God tells Noah that a covenant is to be made with all living creatures, that there will never be another event like the flood, in which God destroys everything and begins again. The rainbow is a sign and a reminder of this covenant.

First impressions.

- This valley flowers every three to ten years and only after a flood – what thoughts does that stir in you?
- Why is the rainbow after 'The Flood' a sign of God's covenant?
- What does God's promise mean to you?

Pray

A sending out prayer.

God of new beginnings, your undying, tender love is truly amazing. You sustain the whole universe with what is needed for life. You trust us humans to care for that life. We often fail, but your love reaches out a hand to pick us up, to help us start again. Thank you. Amen.

REFLECTION

Use hand-washing time this week to remember the God gave everyone a fresh start after the flood. Picture a rainbow as a reminder of God's unconditional love and promise
