1 Samuel 8:4–11,(12–15),16–20,(11:14–15) *Choices and consequences The leaders of Israel come to Samuel to ask for a king. Samuel does not think this a good idea but, after praying to God, he comes back to them with God's warning about what having a king would mean – conscripted armies, tithes and taxes. But the people insist. So, Samuel takes them all to Gilgal where they find Saul and make him their king.

First impressions

- Can you think of an action you have taken that has caused big ripples?
- Where was God in the decision you took?
- Are you aware of situations in the news where big decisions must be made? How might you pray for the decision-makers?

A prayer of adoration.

Lord God, whatever age we are, you show us your love and compassion. Whether we are new in the faith or have known you more years than we care to remember, you are there for us. Even when the consequences of our choices aren't good, you show us your mercy. We bow to our powerful God for whom nothing is impossible. Amen.

Make a list of kind actions and cut them up into on separate slips of paper. Fold and place them in a bowl and then, during the week, choose a new action to do that day.
